County road named after Taylor family

in

"I'm very flattered . . . quite surprised . . . very honored," John Taylor said Wednesday after learning that Kingston Township's newest arterial road will be named after him and his father Clarence.

Council named the roadway Taylor boulevard in recognition of the lengthy public service of the two Taylors.

Clarence Taylor is 86 years old and in retirement at the county's home for the aged. He served for 30 consecutive years on the township's board of health. He resigned his last public as fence viewer this year.

John (Jack) Taylor's public service already spans 26 years in the township and Frontenac County. He has been township clerk-assessor, assessor, council member, and both deputy-reeve and reeve by acclamation. He resigned as reeve after one year to become county clerk.

The Taylor family has been tied to township land for generations.

The history of the family farm on the Sharpton road, west of Glenvale, is one of Jack's pet projects. Both Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Oliver Mowatt did legal work on the farm deed and it bares their signatures.

The farm land was originally deeded from the Crown to Eliza Taylor in 1806 and held by her until 1839. Mr. Taylor has never been able to establish a connection between Eliza and his family.

The present family came into the picture in 1886 when the land was bought by Josiah, then passed to Hiram, Clarence and Jack.

Jack Taylor's wife, Barbara, comes from Gordon farm just up the road which has never belonged to another family.

Their sons Gordon and John are in school but expect to maintain the family's farming tradition. Their daughter Ann is married to William McKendry of the Glenburnie quarrying McKendrys.

The Taylor farm is part of a 5,000 acre tract zoned for airport development. Jack Taylor says he doesn't want to block progress but doesn't look forward to it.

The Taylors may continue to live in the township's rural north, but the boulevard that carries their name will run through a densely urban area.

The boulevard now runs from Gardiner's road to Bayridge Secondary School and should reach Collins Bay road within a year. It will eventually connect Counter street and Collins Bay road.

Already designated a County of Frontenac road, Taylor boulevard may eventually link the city with points well to the west of Kingston Township.

Her term does not end until May 25, 1977. There was no indication of possible candidates to succeed her.

There was speculation that the major opposition political parties, the military and the divided Peronist movement agreed to accept Mrs. Peron's promise to retire and let her remain in office to preserve the constitutional facade and also to keep her from becoming a political martyr and future potential candidate.

It was also believed that Mrs. Peron agreed to accept advice from her opponents and the military on government appointments and policies.

Belief that a compromise had been worked out was heightened by Interior Minister Roberto Ares's announcement that the congressional session which Mrs. Peron had decreed at an end on Monday would be convened again next Wednesday. Congressional opponents had been threatening impeachment of the president, and it was believed she would not have agreed to the resumption of the session unless this threat was withdrawn.

A former cabaret dancer whose only qualification for office was her marriage to Peron, Mrs. Peron was imposed on Argentina by her husband as his vice-presidential running mate in September 1973. Since he terrorism, the inflation rate has risen to nearly 350 per cent, some of Mrs. Peron's closest associates have been accused of corruption and a split in the Peronist movement has deepened.

The crisis for Mrs. Peron began last July, when the major unions that are the backbone of the Peronist movement refused to accept anti-inflation wage rollbacks, and her chief adviser and closest confidante, Jose Lopez Rega, was forced into exile.

The president has changed her cabinet repeatedly without improving any aspect of the political, economic or police situation, and there have been frequent rumors that a military coup was in the offing. But the military is haunted by the poor record it made while in power from 1966 to 1973. It also recognizes that the name of Peron is still magic to a large part of the population and that to oust Mrs. Peron would make a martyr of her.

Interesting Old Receipt Is Uncovered

5 March 1958

A veritable river of interest-provoking objects flows through a newspaper office. Everything from old newspapers, medals, moths to out-of-season caterpillars. Most things go through the grist of some reporter's typewriter and come out as a few lines of copy, or in some cases become the subject matter of a feature article.

The latest object to reach this reporter's desk is a receipt which is 70 years old, was issued to one Josiah Taylor of Hartington for one year's subscription to the Weekly Whig on Jan. 7, 1888, for the year ending 31st Dec., 1888.

One of the most remarkable features of the receipt is its excellent state of preservation, a factor due no doubt to the heavy 40 pound bond paper on which it is printed.

One third of the slip is devoted to an illustration of a printing press and a message to the effect, that "The British Whig, established in 1834, keeps the lead in circulation and equipment; will provide rapid and cheap job printing, and has the best facilities in the district — nine presses."

The whole receipt is printed in violet-colored ink and the lettering is in script embellished with a spray of oak leaves and acorns and other ornate curlicues.

Signed by E. J. B. Pense, owner of the paper at that time and grandson of the founder, the payee became the possessor of this ornate but tasteful receipt, plus one year's delivery of the newspaper, all for the price of one dollar.

The receipt now belongs to a C. G. Taylor, a nephew of the original owner. Mr. Taylor who lives at RR 3 Odessa, came across it when going through papers and articles belonging to his late uncle. Five generations of the Taylor family have farmed in the district surrounding Odessa and Mr. Taylor is keenly interested in objects which tell some history of the past. He makes a hobby of collecting such articles at his home, which is the old family homestead.

tors for the defendants were Borden, Elliott, Kelley, Palmer and Sankey.

The following claims for dissolution of marriage have been declared decree nisi; Rosaleen Capron, plaintiff, and John Nigel James Capron and Sandra Gagnon, defendants; Ethel Woodman, plaintiff, and Stanley Woodman and Stella Mallory, defendants; Delbert H. Gibson, plaintiff, and Norah Joan Gibson and Lyle Marno, defendants.

Morton Low New Queen's AMS Head

Morton D. Low of Ottawa, son of Social Credit leader Solon Low, yesterday was elected president of the Alma Mater Society, student governing body of Queen's University, by the AMS electoral college. He succeeds William R. "Herb" Harmer of Southampton, Ont., who has held office during the 100th year of student self-government at Queen's.

The announcement of the election was made at a general meeting of the AMS held last night in Grant Hall. Cecilia Comba, a third-year Levana student from Calgary was elected vice-president.

The new president is a fifth-year medical student and during the past year has served as junior representative of the medical faculty on the AMS executive. He is now acting president and will take over all the duties of the office following Color Night this Friday, when Mr. Harmer will preside for the last time.

The general meeting decided to admit the Law Faculty to full membership in the AMS. Three law representatives will henceforth sit with the Levana, arts, science, medical and theological faculty representatives, bringing voting membership of the executive to 16 (three for each faculty, with the exception of theology, which has one). The electoral college is composed of the incoming and outgoing executives.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

*EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a editor and two newspaper writers. These consult with clergymen of all faiths and denominations. All letters are held in complete confidence.

MR. E. D. — Our children won't listen to us.
FLORA D. — Our mistakes were their fault.

MR. E. D. — My wife and I are very much concerned about our son and daughter, who seem to feel that they have arrived at such a ripe old age they have no more need at all for their parents.

Denis is 24 and Flora is 21. They do exactly as they please in every way and won't take any advice from us. Flora has already had two broken engagements. These could have been avoided if she had listened to us in the first place. Denis went into business partnership with a friend of his and lost his shirt. I warned him, but he wouldn't listen.

How can we make them understand that their parents have a little more experience and wisdom than they have?

FLORA D. — Our parents really have no understanding of us or our problems. Anything we do they say is wrong. They say they know better. Sometimes we turn out to be right, but they overlook that.

My parents say my broken engagements could have been avoided if I had listened to them. But it was their fault that I got engaged in the first place. They wanted me to marry someone I didn't like at all and I just got engaged to get them off my back.

The same thing happened with Denis. My father wanted him to go into a particular line of work which he happens to hate. Just to get rid of Dad's pressure, Denis got into business trouble.

THE COUNCIL: It sounds as though the E. D.'s have foolishly allowed themselves to get into a pointless contest of wills with their children.

The question in this family no longer is, "What is the right thing to do?" but "Who knows better — a parent or a child?"

The E. D.'s seem determined to prove that their children can't get along without them. The children, lacking self-confidence, do everything possible to prove they have no need whatever of parental advice. But if things go wrong, they feel they have a right to blame their parents because the parents are too ready to feel responsible for them.

The E. D.'s must recognize that Denis and Flora are adults and old enough to be parents themselves. They cannot possibly expect this young man and woman to obey blindly.

From Flora's statement it appears that neither she nor her brother have yet accepted full responsibility for their decisions and for their lives in general. Mature, clear-minded women don't get involved in engagements they don't mean and then turn around and blame their parents for the whole affair. It was a mighty silly way of coping with pressure.

Flora and Denis need to make

NEWBURGH NOTES.

Three Regretted Deaths to Chronicle—Old Landmarks Gone.

Newburgh, June 2.—Death has been busy lately, no less than three deaths occurring the last few days, namely, Joseph Taylor, Philip Phalen and Fred Baker. The first two have been almost life-long residents and were among our most prominent and respected citizens. Mr. Taylor was in his seventy-fourth year, having been born in Yorkshire, England, in 1826. He early removed to Canada with his father. The latter was a local preacher of the Methodist church in this district and a very able, eloquent man, filling city pulpits very acceptably on different occasions. Mr. Taylor came to Newburgh in 1844 and learned his trade as axemaker with the late Thomas Armstrong. He later removed to a farm in Elginburg, but soon returned to Newburgh where he began an axe factory in connection with Miles Caton on the site where Mr. Stickney's machine shops are. He was a superior workman and a very skillful mechanic. In the fire of 1887 he lost his shop and dwelling and his business never fully recovered since that time. For the last thirty years Mr. Taylor had been, with the exception of one year, a member of the school board and his opinions have always been much respected. From 1874 to 1879 he was a valuable member of the village council. Since 1888 he has been assessor, making his last assessment last spring. He had been sanitary inspector ever since the creation of the office by the Ontario government and a very efficient one. Mr. Taylor married a daughter of the late Michael Percy, of Camden, and is survived by her and a family of seven, three sons, Norton, of Deseronto, William, of Brockville, and Joseph, of Tilsonburg, and four daughters, Mrs. W. Hudson, Syracuse, N.Y., Mrs. A. Myers, Rome, N.Y., Mrs. H. Parks, Deseronto, and Mrs. F. Brizee, Syracuse. Mr. Taylor's funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. C. L. Thompson, assisted by Rev. Mr. Gandier. The remains were taken to Harrowsmith for burial. Mr. Phalen has been a resident of Newburgh for a couple of weeks.

DANGER IN SODA.

Serious Results Sometimes Follow Its Excessive Use.

Common soda is all right in its place and indispensable in the kitchen and for cooking and washing purposes, but it was never intended as a medicine, and people who use it as such will some day regret it.

We refer to the common use of soda to relieve heartburn or sour stomach, a habit which thousands of people practice and one which is fraught with danger; moreover, the soda only gives temporary relief and in the end the stomach trouble gets worse and worse.

The soda acts as a mechanical irritant to the walls of the stomach and bowels, and cases are on record where it has accumulated in the intestines, causing death by inflammation or peritonitis.

Dr. Harlandson recommends as the safest and surest cure for sour stomach (acid dyspepsia) an excellent preparation sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These tablets are large twenty-grain lozenges, very pleasant to taste and contain the natural acids, peptones and digestive elements essential to good digestion, and when taken after meals they digest the food perfectly and promptly before it has time to ferment, sour and poison the blood and nervous system.

Dr. Wuerth states that he invariably uses Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in all cases of stomach derangements and finds them a certain cure not only for sour stomach, but for promptly digesting the food they create flesh and strengthen the action of the heart and liver. They are not cathartic, but intended only for stomach diseases and weakness and will be found reliable in all stomach troubles except cancer of the stomach. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents per package.

A little book describing all forms of stomach weakness and their treatment, mailed free by addressing the F. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

Death had ironic twist

EDMONTON (CP) — Leroy Taylor, a director of the Five Day Stop Smoking Plan of Canada, died Saturday in a cigarette-sparked motel fire.

Police said the blaze was caused by a careless smoker in an adjoining unit.

Mr. Taylor, 40, of Oshawa was found dead in the bathroom of his motel room where he apparently tried to escape from the fire. He was in the city to address a youth rally.

MEMORANDUM.

From THE RECORD KEEPER,
PRINCIPAL PROBATE REGISTRY,
SOMERSET HOUSE, LONDON, W.C.2.

5th February 1938

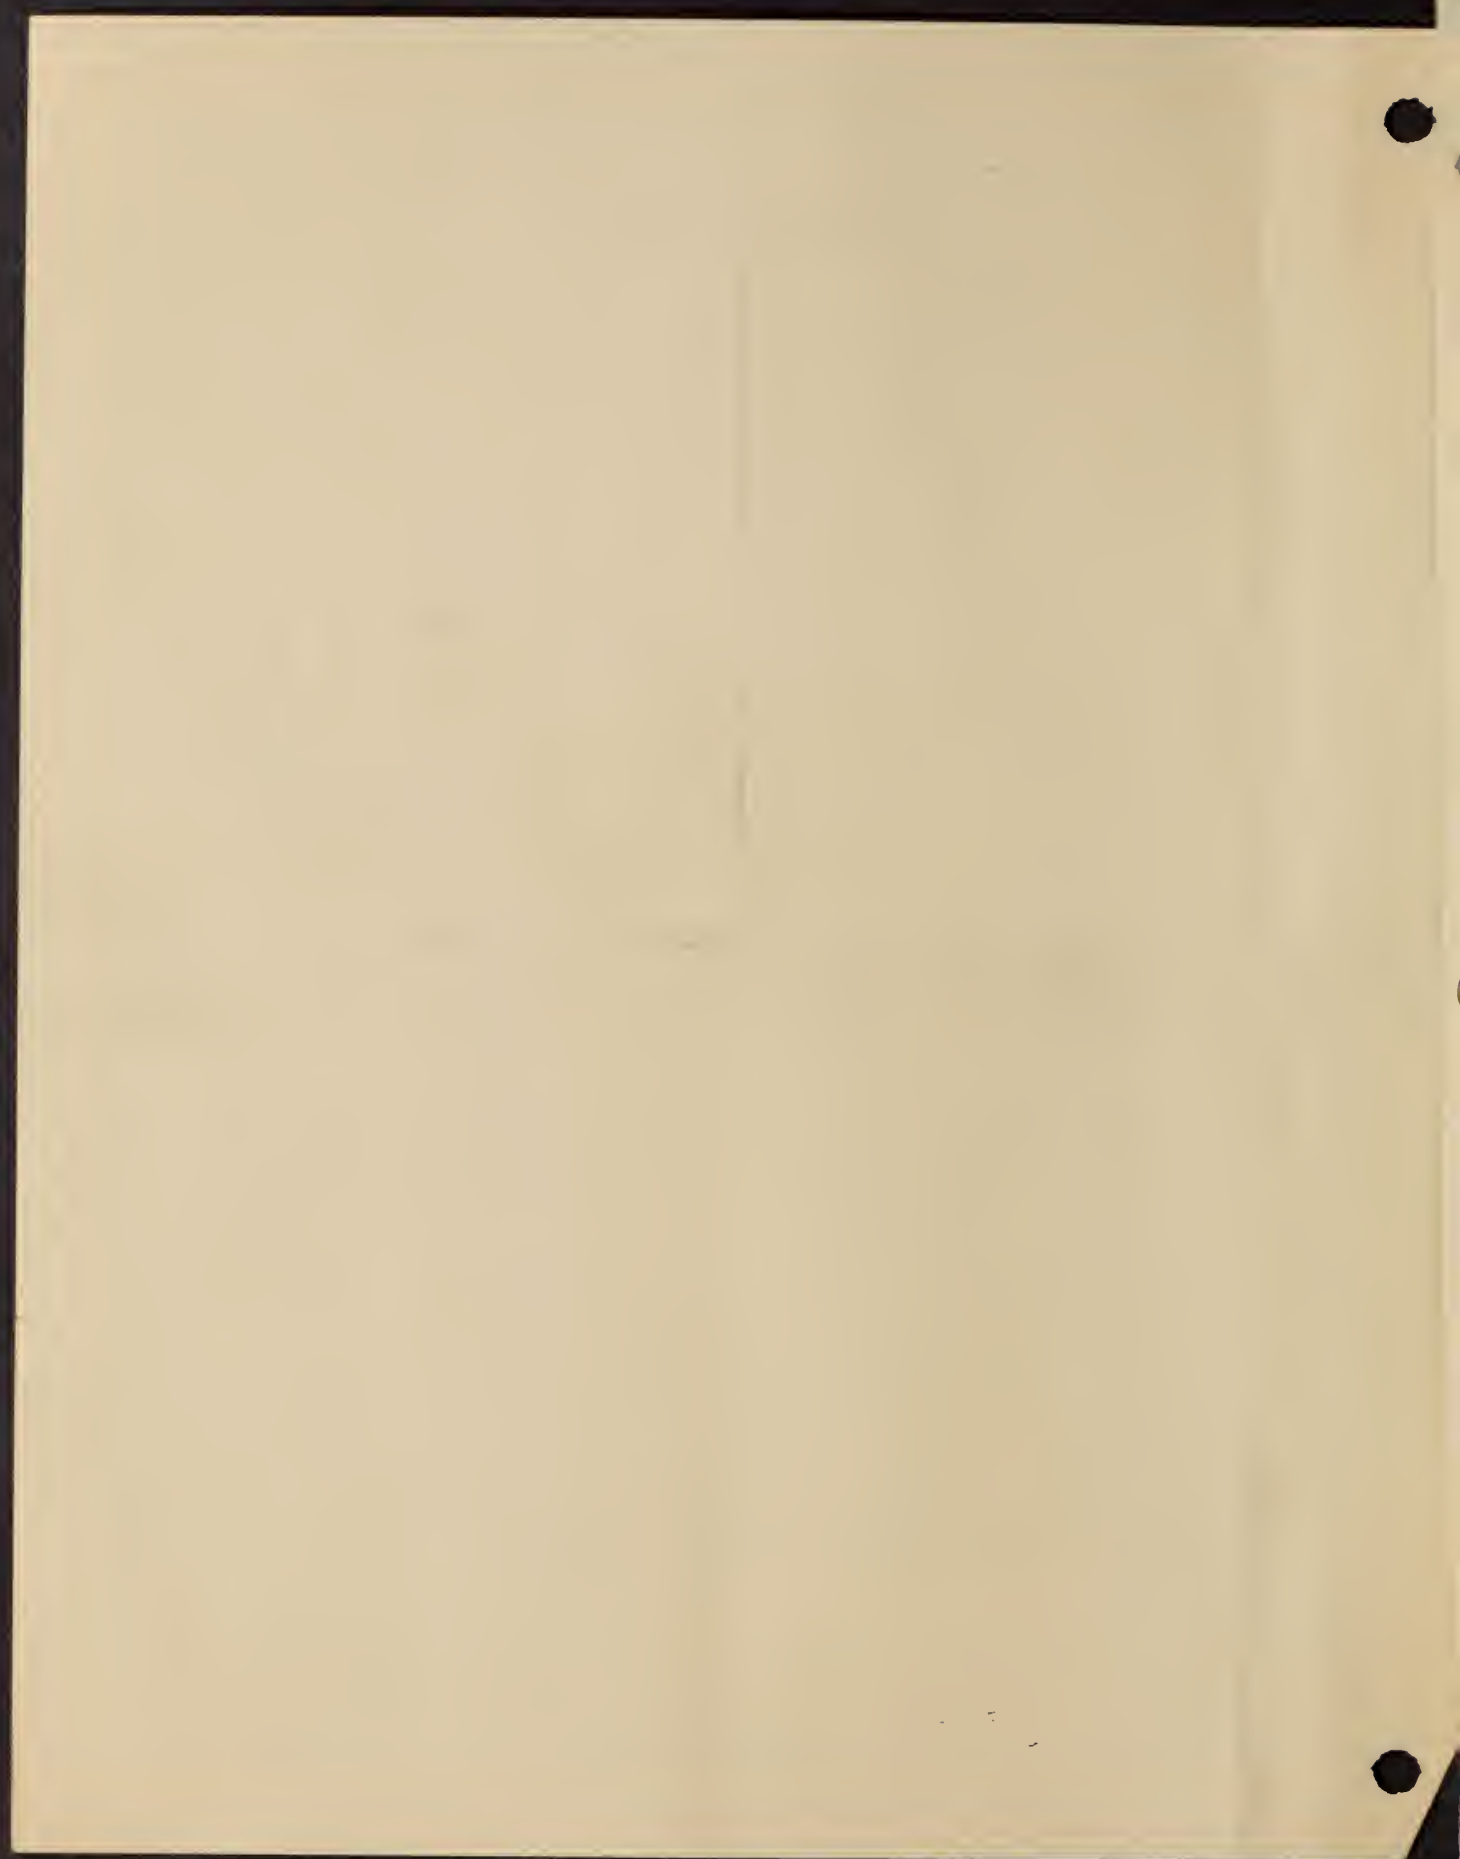

To Mr. H. C. Burleigh
Bath
Ontario

No searches can be made for Wills or Letters of Administration, nor can copies of such be sent by post to applicants, when the Deceased person died previously to 1853. In such cases applicants, if unable to come themselves to this Registry, can employ an agent or friend to personally make such searches on their behalf, and to order for them the copies they may require.

Before 11th January, 1858, the records of Wills proved and of Administrations granted in in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, and in the Diocesan and other Courts for London and its neighbourhood are kept at this Registry, and must be searched for personally, prior to 1853. The records of the Courts not in the neighbourhood of London are in most cases deposited in the District Probate Registry for the locality. From 11th January, 1858, to the present time the records of all Wills proved and of all Administrations granted throughout England and Wales will be found in this Registry.

Should applicants (or their Agents) searching in person at the Principal Probate Registry, fail to find the Will they require, they should ascertain by personal enquiry there, in what other Registry the Will might possibly be found.

She then m. ----- Babcock. She was born in Derbyshire.

ALFRED TAYLOR was born in Yorkshire, England, Dec. 7th, 1799, and died in the faith and hope of the gospel, Jan. 23th, 1870. Father Taylor was converted at the age of seventeen and entered the itinerant work, in the Primitive Methodist Church at the age of twenty, and after six years of acceptable service, he married and located, uniting with the Wesleyan Church. He and his family emigrated to Canada in 1840, when he was employed at once as a local preacher, which useful office he continued to fill until the close of life. He was frequently in circuit work as a supply in consequence of his surpassing abilities. He was truly a workman that was not ashamed because he rightly divided, and in a masterly manner, handled the word of God. His piety was deep and progressive, seldom ecstatic; but clear and exemplary. I have heard him say, in love feasts, "that at times he experienced an exultant joy, in prospect of seeing at the right hand of God, the Man who died for him". His last illness was characterized by great bodily suffering, but his mind was kept in peace. He was filled with the Holy Ghost. On one occasion he said to his pastor that he now understood better than ever what the apostle meant by an exceeding weight of glory. Father Taylor will doubtless not merely shine as the brightness of the firmament but as the stars, forever and forever.

HEMSWORTH REGISTER
16 March 1936.

Dear Sir,

Thank you for your letter of 7 ins

I have searched the Hemsworth Registers up to 182- 1812. The name Richard Taylor does not appear at all.

There seems to have been a certain amount of movement at the end of the 18th century e.g. baptisms are recorded here at that period from Leeds, Thorne, Kirkheaton, Doncaster, Wakefield, Belton (Lincs.), Brierley, Sheffield.

Thank you for the search fee of Two Shilling

Yours faithfully,

A. S. Duckett.

Feb. 18. 1936.

Dear Sir,

I beg to acknowledge your letter with enclosure of Postal Money Order for ten shillings.

I have found the two entries you required from the Registers of this Parish and enclose you certified copies as desired.

I have been obliged to write these out in full as the modern printed forms arranged in columns are entirely unsuited for the Baptism and Marriage entries of over a century ago, which were written in continuous script, as you see, without the many additional particulars we enter in the Registers of today.

I am sending you these certificates at once but during the next few days I hope to make some local enquiries about your branch of the Willington family and will thereafter write you about any descendants of your great-grandparents of whom I may gather any information. I don't think there are any "Taylors" in this Parish, but there are two families of Mellington, neither family being connected with the other. I will try and find out to which family your great grandmother belonged.

The fee legally due to me on each of these certificates is three shillings and sevenpence, so that your enclosure is 2/10 more than I am entitled to and amply covers the cost of postage. If therefore I find out any further information I will gladly send it to you.

Yours sincerely

Rupert W. King

P.S. The contraction "Dair" in the Baptism entry means Daughter.

MILLINGTON.

Anthony Millington, of Felley Abbey, Notts., married Prudence, daughter of Wm. Gilbert, proctor of the Arches, of Colchester.
Their eldest son,

Gilbert, regicide, died in 1666. In 1614 he was admitted a member of Lincoln's Inn, and was Deputy Sheriff of Notts. in 1639. He was M. P. for Notts. in the Long Parliament and subsequently. He died at Jersey in Sept. or Oct., 1666.

Encyclopedia of National Biography contains the following reference to him:

Gilbert Millington (d. 1666), regicide, was eldest son of Anthony Millington, of Felley Abbey, Nottinghamshire, by Prudence, dau. of Wm. Gilbert, proctor of the Arches, of Colchester. By 1635 he was acting as J. P. for Nottinghamshire. On July 1, 1642 he was appointed deputy-lieutenant for Nottingham. He was chosen one of the King's Judges and signed the deathwarrant of Charles I. His estates were seized on Restoration and he was imprisoned for life. In 1644, immediately after burying his first wife, "a religious, matronly gentlewoman" at Greasley, he married a "flirtish girl" of sixteen from an alehouse.

JOHN - JOHN MILLINGTON of Millington.

JOHN MILLINGTON of Millington.

Landed Gentry of Co. Britain.

Legh of High Legh.

Thomas de Lega. of East Hall, in the parish of Rostherine, co. Chester, son of Hugh de Lega, son of Oswald de Lega of Easthall, was father of Thomas de Legh, of Easthall, whose son, Adam Legh, of the Easthall, was father of Hugh de Legh, of the Easthalls, who had a son,

John de Legh, of Easthall, in High Legh, m. Jane, dau. of co-heir of Matthew, Lord of Alpraham, co. Chester, and had three sons. The 2nd son, John de Legh, of Alpraham, had a son and heir, John de Legh, who was father of Thomas de Legh, of Northwood, father of Thomas Legh, of Northwood, 30 Hen. VI (1451), whose son, Thomas Legh, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Godfrey Mellington, and was father of another Thomas Legh, living 4 Henry VIII (1512), m. Margaret, dau. of Richard Charlton, and by her had a son, Robert Legh, who, by Alice his wife, dau. of Hugh Sturkey, of Olton, left a son and heir, Thomas Legh, of High Legh, m. Isabel, dau. & heir of Rafe Trafford, of co. Lancaster, and was s. by his son and heir, Thomas Legh, of High Legh, m. Eleanor, dau. of Randolph Spurstow, of Spurstow, and by her had an elder son and heir,

George Legh, of High Legh, m. 1st a dau. of Heycester, of Tabley; and Indly Anne, dau. of John Booth, of Barton, and left a son and successor,

Thomas Legh, of High Legh, m. Barbara, dau. of Thomas Brooke, of Norton, co. Chester, and by her had (with three daughters) three sons,

1. Henry, his heir.
2. Thomas, d. unm.
3. George, a Cavalier, slain in the Civil War.

Legh of Norbury Booths Hall.

Agnes de Legh (only dau. and heir of Richard de Legh, great-grandson of Hamon, lord of the Medietz of High Legh, temp Henry II) m. 1st Richard de Lynne, and had by him a son

1. Thomas, who took the name of Legh, and half the medietz of High Legh. His son, Thomas Legh, was the progenitor of the Leghs of the West Hall, High Legh.

Agnes m. Indly, William de Hawardyn, and had another son

2. Ralph de Hawardyn, who had the other half of the medietz of High Legh, and sold it to Sir Richard Massey, of Tatton, 1206.

Agnes m. 3dly, Sir William Venables, Knt., 2nd son of Sir William Venables, Baron of Kinderlton, and by him had a 3rd son,

3. John, who took the name of degh, and purchased Knutsford Booth, before 28 Edward I (1299). By his first wife he had a son,

1. John (Sir)

He m. Indley, Ellen, dau. of Thomas de Corona, of Adlington, and by her had

2. Robert, progenitor of the deghs of Adlington, Amerley, Lyme, Ridge, Stoneleigh Stockwell, &c.

3. William (Sir), ancestor of the deghs of Isall.

4. Peter, founder of the deghs of Bechton.

5. Gilbert, whose son,

John, m. Cecilia de Towneley, and was ancestor of the Towneleys of Towneley.

Sir John de degh, living temp. Edward III (1327-1377), eldest son of John degh, the first of Knutsford Booth, was direct ancestor of the family of degh of Booths, whose eventual heir - - -

degh of West Hall, High degh

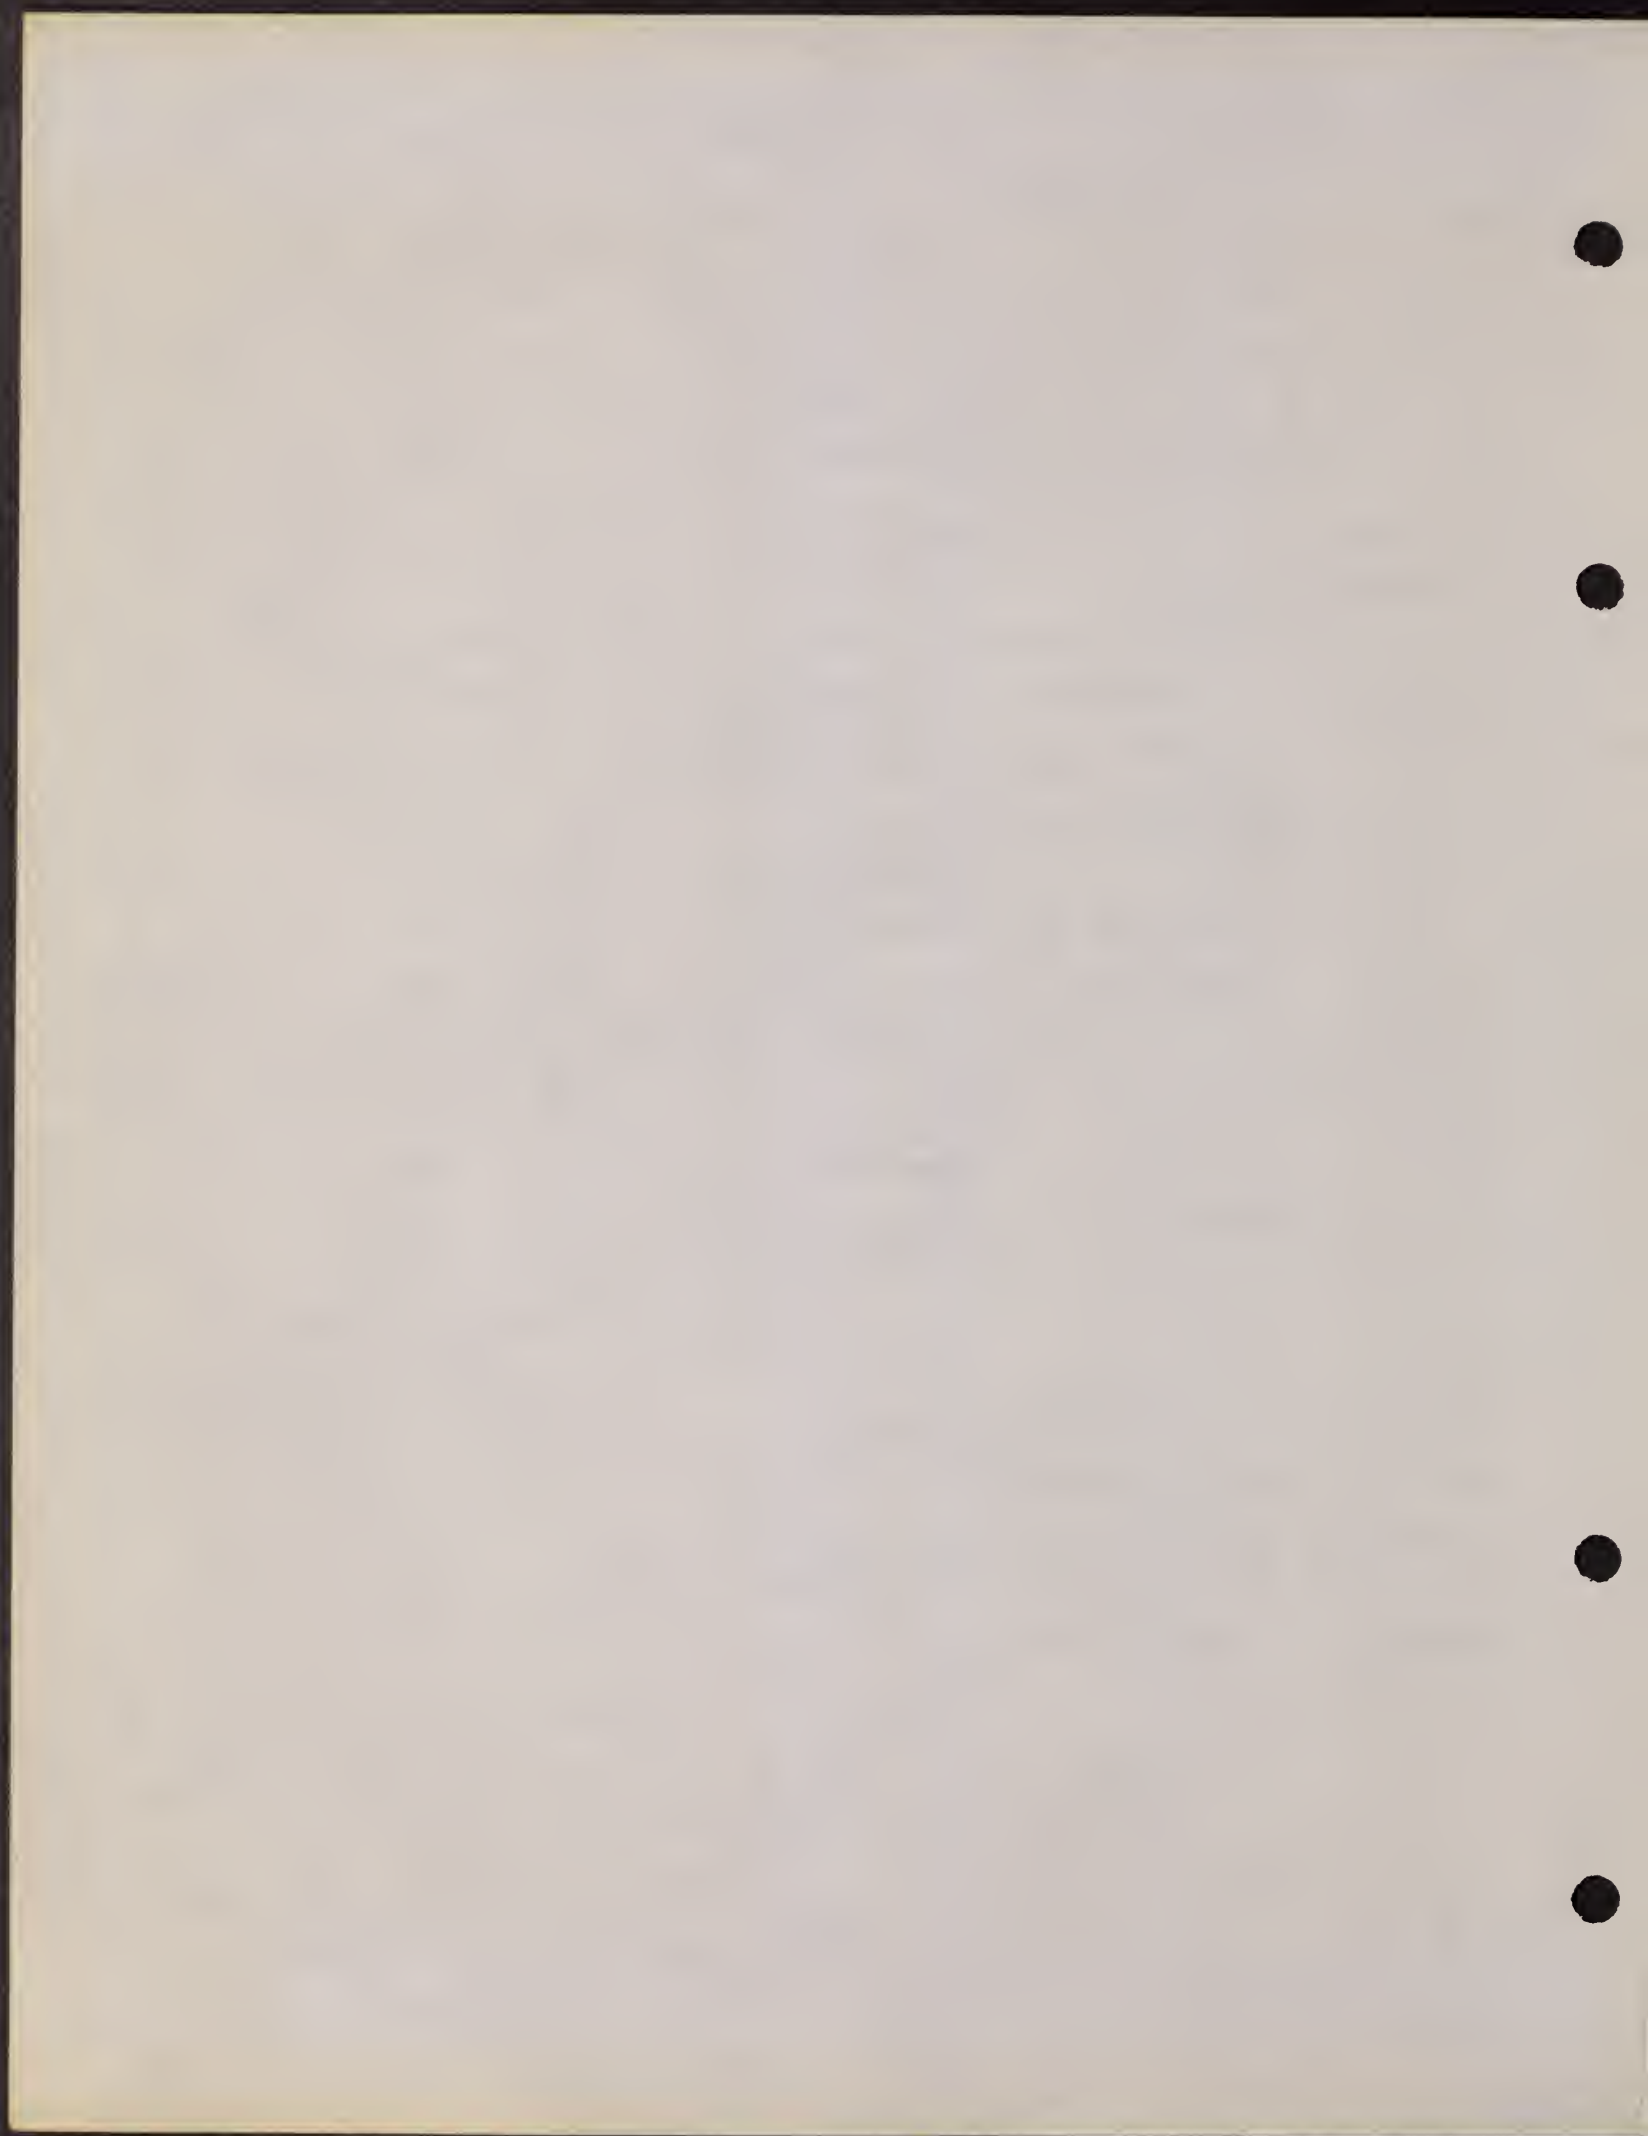

Old and honourable as is the descent of the deghs of the West Hall, the Symmes, from whom they sprang, were even still more ancient. Amerod conjectures Symme to have been a collateral branch of the Barons of Halton. Agnes de degh, heir of the West Hall, High degh, m. temp. Henry III (1216-1272), Richard de Symme, and was the mother of Thomas de degh, named from the place of his residence. From him descended the eminent and highly allied family of degh, of West Hall, High degh; - - - degh of Woodchester Park (co. Gloucester)

The ancestors of this family, were for several generations seated at Symme, and from researches made in 1811, it appeared probable that they had originally descended from the deghs of West Hall in High degh; but as entries of pedigree had not been made in the Herald's College, it was found impracticable to ascertain with precision the particular branch of the deghs from which they originally sprang, so as to prove a right to armorial bearings.

Towneley of Towneley

The great and ancient family of Towneley, as deduced, by ancient charters, and other authenticated documentary evidence, derives from Sparthlingus, 1st Dean of Whalley, living about the year 896, when Alfred reigned over England. His descendant,

Peter de Tunlay, or Towneley, the first who is known to have used the present arms, viz., Arg., a fesse sa., three mullets in chief of the second, was s. by

1. Agnes de Towneley, m. John de Hargrave, and d. s. p.
2. Cecilia, of Towneley, eventually sole heir.

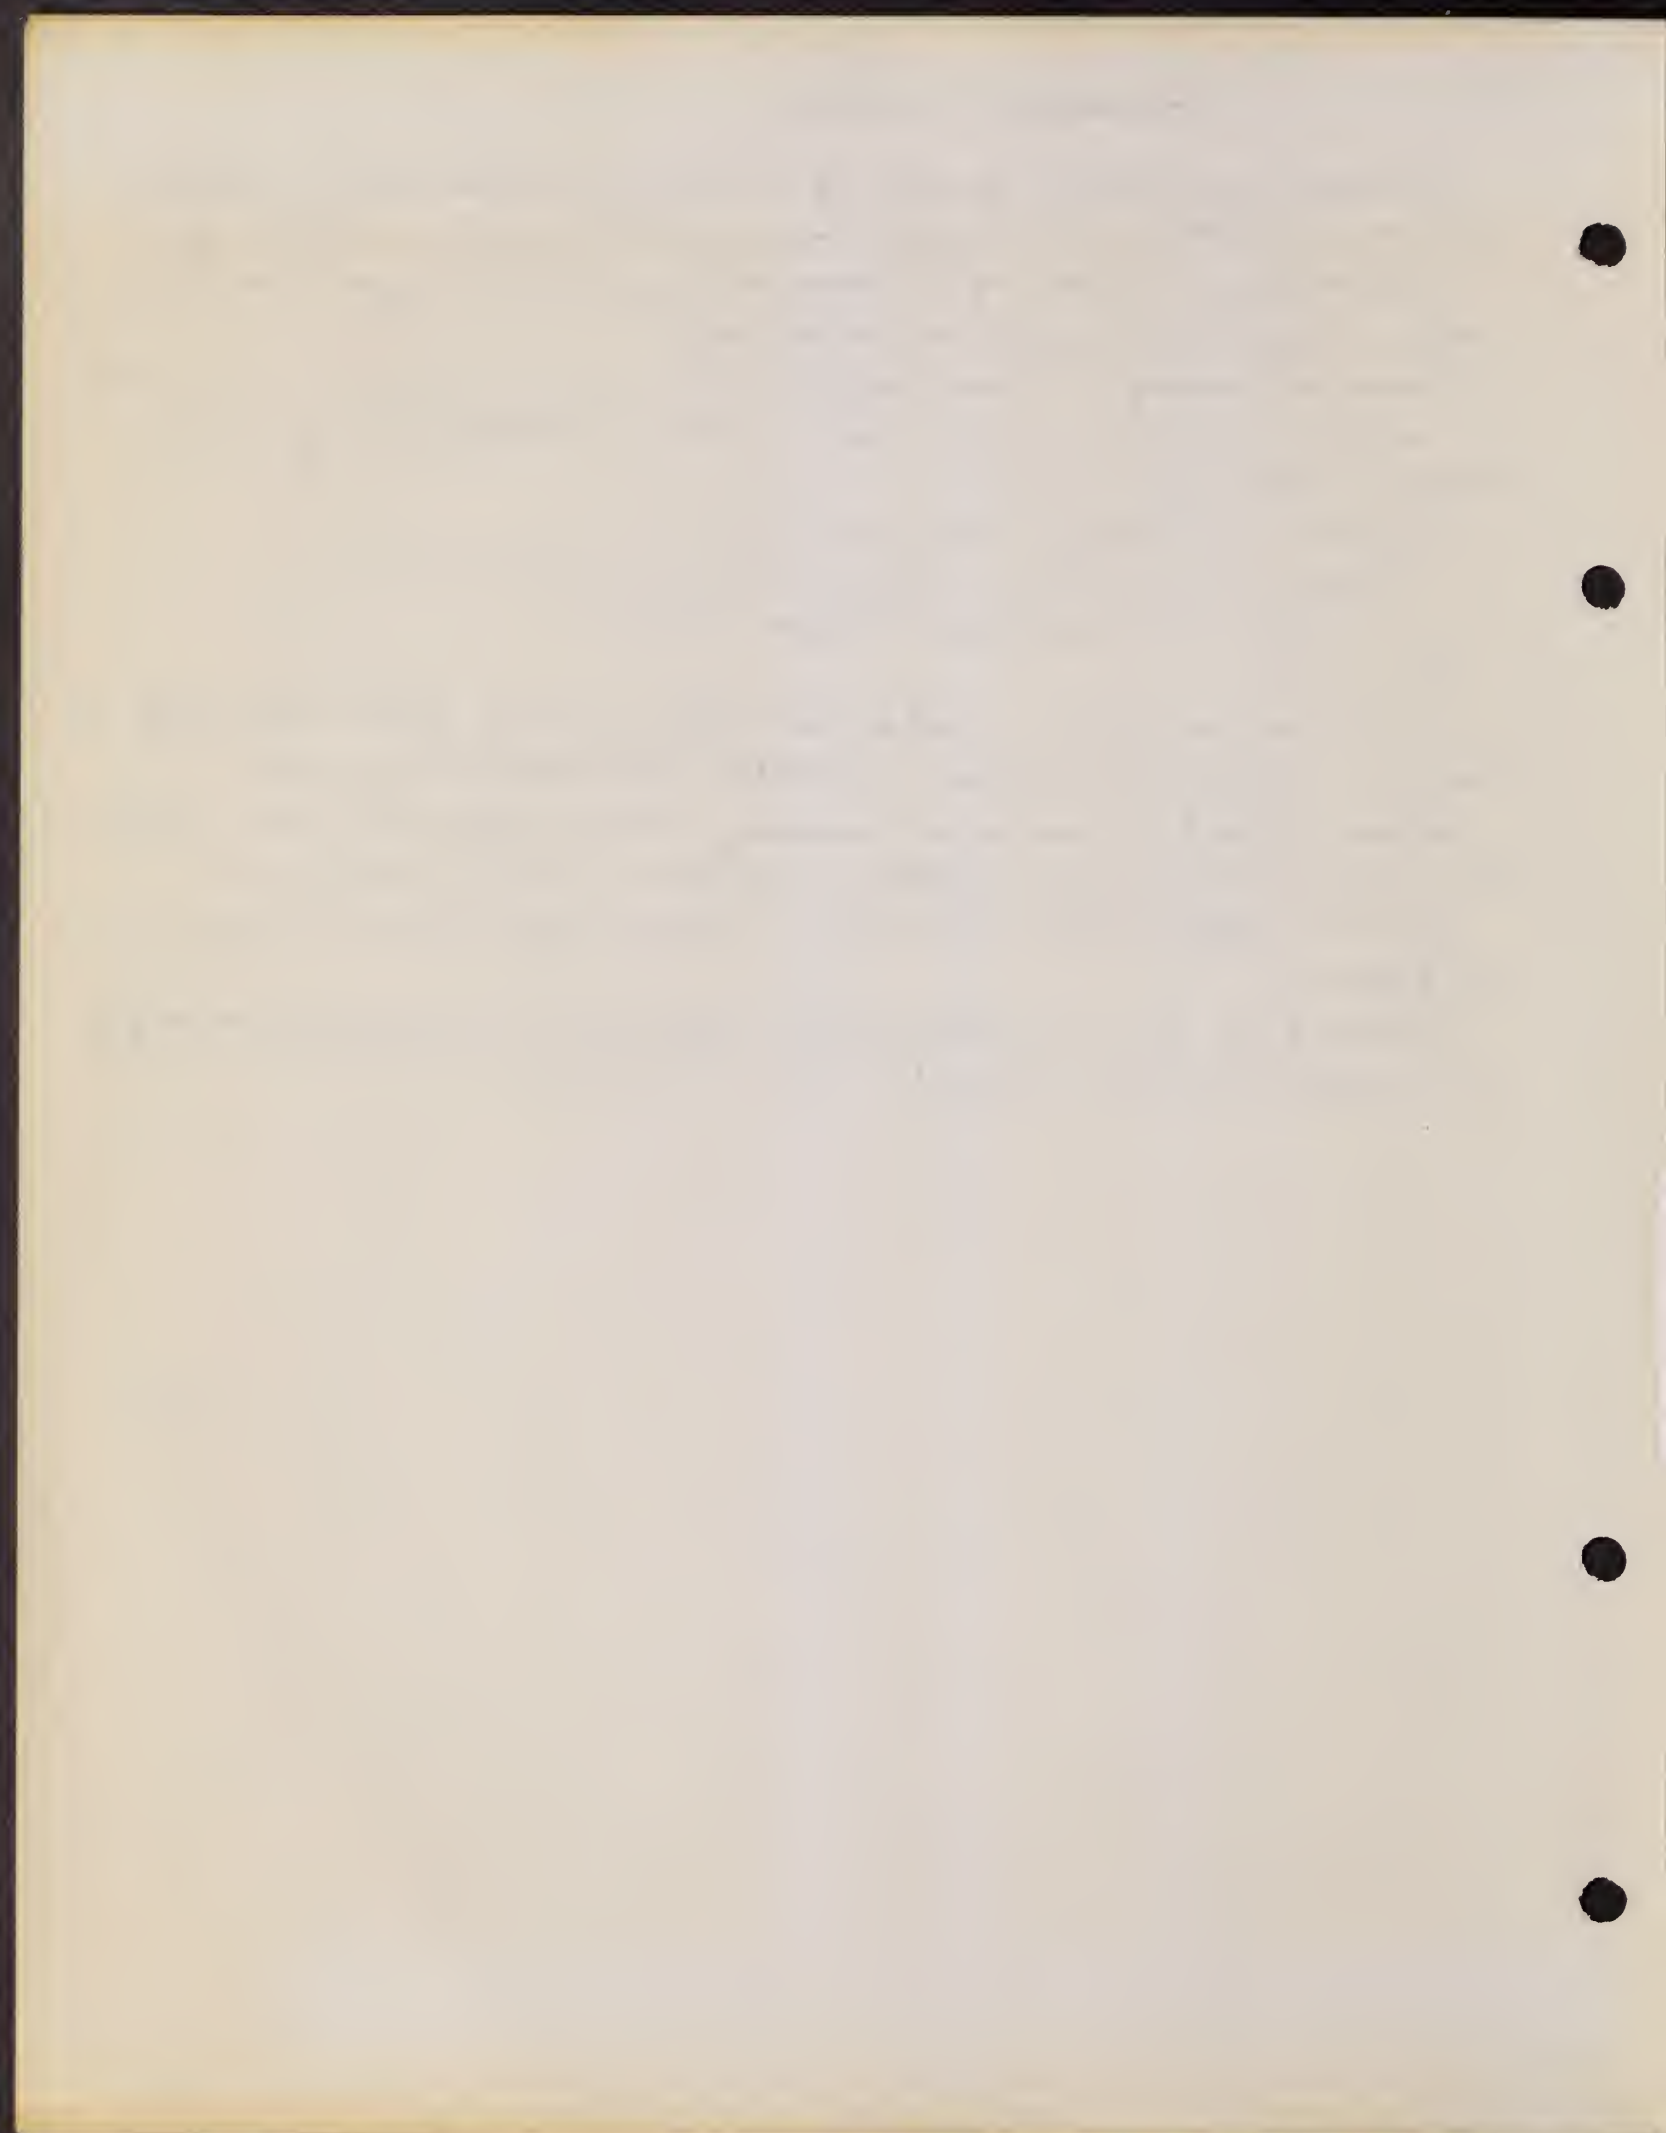

The younger,

Cecilia de Towneley, m. John del Legh, grandson of John del Legh, of Booths, co. Chester. He d. about 4 Edward III, anno 1330, leaving a son, Gilbert del Legh, possessed of Towneley, 16 Edward III (1342), who m. Alice, dau. of Robert Vernon of Warforth, in Cheshire, and was s. by his son,

John de la Legh, living in 1326, who m. Maria, dau. of Thomas Fenton, and was father of Richard de Towneley, alias de la Legh, who was appointed Sheriff of co. Lancaster by John of Gaunt in 1375, 1376, and 1377. - - -

Deaths - Funerals

HIRAM E. TAYLOR
ODESSA — Hiram Edgar Taylor, one of the best known and highly esteemed residents of the Township of Kingston passed away at his home in Sharpton on March 29th in his 78th year. Hiss illness was of a brief duration.
The funeral service, which was largely attended, was held Saturday April 1 and was conducted by Rev. Peter Jamieson, minister of the Glenvale Presbyterian Church. An appropriate duet "Saved By Grace" was sung by Mrs. Stanley Sproule and daughter, Helen of Odessa.
Mr. Taylor was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Taylor of Hartington and when quite young went to Meaford where he spent a few years. He had resided in this district for 53 years where he was greatly respected for his many sterling qualities.
He is survived by Mrs. Taylor, who before her marriage, was Miss Clare Wood of Hartington; two daughters, Mrs. Myles Bennington of Kingston and Mrs. W. J. Snider of Odessa; one son, Clarence on the homestead, one sister Mrs. Wilkinson of Toronto, one brother Joseph Taylor of Detroit and five grandchildren, Gerald Bennington, Marie, Jack and Betty Taylor and Harold Snider.
The remains were placed in the vault to await burial in the Sydenham Cemetery. The honorary pallbearers were John Moreland, George Clark, Edwin Clark, Hosea Campsall, Arthur Patterson, George Bell and Byron Gordon. The active pallbearers were S. Sommerville, H. Vrooman, M. Bennington, R. B. Gibson, H. K. Gordon and R. Graham.
Friends from a distance in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. C. Wood, Mrs. A. Fowler, Ian Wood and Jerry of OTTAWA, (The Associated Press) — (morency) Mr. Lacroix was not opposed to the amendment experience was a "legal" Canadian expedition sent overseas. In reporting a speech on Friday night April 3, Mr. Lacroix reported Mr. Lacroix's view of public danger. He said this was a pretation of violence. As reported Lacroix said: "I am not protesting against all the millions asked, had a guarantee that not have become an expedition." "Ever since I have been graduated I have protested because of increases because such as I have to say an assurance votes would be war, and to the discussion seems to be war, it would be sending on the expeditionary armed at the Government."

know, too, that it will take years and a lot of money and good old-fashioned elbow grease to do it. This year we shall probably only scratch the surface. This is everybody's job. Come along and help us make Napanee the most beautiful town in Ontario.

In the near future Mr. Ransom is giving us a whole day to plan the landscaping for some of our members with new homes. Hand in your name to the president, Miss Letha Scott, if you want this service.

ODESSA 25 Apr 1956

MRS. CLARA TAYLOR

Odessa. — One of the oldest residents of this community, Mrs. Clara Taylor, passed away in Kingston on April 1, in her 90th year. She was born at Newburgh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Wood. She was predeceased by her husband, H. Edgar Taylor, on April 1, 1939.

The funeral service was held from her late residence to Sydenham Cemetery, where interment will take place in the spring. The service was conducted by Rev. Roy Speer, of Odessa United Church.

Mrs. Taylor attended the Presbyterian Church at Glenvale, until church union.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Myles Binnington (Myrtle), Kingston; Mrs. Walter J. Snider (Pearl), of Odessa; one son, Clarence, also of Odessa; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Pall - bearers were Howard Somerville, Roy Graham, James Gordon, Austin Patterson, Melville Patterson and Fred Campbell.

Flower - bearers were Fen Cramer, Douglas Nichol, Clare Ellerbeck, George Robertson, Thomas Bell, Karl Moreland, and Fred Dixon.

Relatives attending from a distance were Mrs. William Dixon, a son, Fred, and Mrs. Edith Taylor of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Iain Wood, of Peterborough.

SEPTUAGENARIAN'S BRAVERY.

At the age of 73 Mr. Greenway Millington, shipbroker, of Runcorn, has been presented with the Royal Humane Society's certificate and medal for diving into Bridgewater Canal and saving a child's life. Mr. William Shaw, a tobacconist, was also given a certificate for saving the child's nurse, who had plunged to the rescue, although she could not swim. This was Shaw's second certificate from the society.

Patronymica Britannica - Lower. Q. U. L.

Ball - A nickname of Baldwin. A West of England provincialism for bold.

"As bad as Ball's bull - who had no little ear for music that he kicked the fiddler over the bridge!" - An eastern-counties proverb. (Halliwell) - A Dictionary of Archaic & Provincial Words &c from the Fourteenth Century by J. Halliwell Brown. Browne. One of the commonest of our family names, entering into the proverb "Smith, Jones Brown & Robinson, to designate the ignoble vulgus. According to the Reg. General's XVI Report it stands sixth among the surnames of England & Wales in point of numbers, Williams Taylor & Davies intervening between Jones & this. Within a given period the Smiths were 33,557 & the Browns 14,346. Its etymology is obvious, & like the Roman Fuscus, the Fr. le Brun, the German and Dutch Bruin, the name refers to the dark complexion of its original bearers. It is difficult to discriminate between the Browns of Saxon & those of Norman descent, the old orthography being in both instances brun. Domesday book has several Bruns, apparently Saxon, but the Battle Abbey Roll has its le Brun from Normandy, & subsequently we have le Bruns in plenty in England, Scotland and (at Henry II's invasion) in Ireland, & ultimately in every rank of society. The Scottish form is Brown, a retained medievalism. A family of French refugees who settled in Norfolk after the Revolution of the Edict of Nantes 1685, under the name of Brunet, now write themselves Browne.

Burleigh, Burley (often interchangeably used) Places in counties of Northampton Rutland, Hants Yorkshire etc.

How Howe Horves - In the South, a small round hill; in the North a hollow place or plain. The medieval form is at How generally synonymous with Hill

a - Sax. hor - a mountain

Johnson - See John. The Johnsons of ~~the~~ Ayrshire - Free county of Lincoln claim from the house of Fitz-John of Normandy Guillimin's Display of Heraldry.

Marten - The Martens of Sussex are stated to have come from the province of Aquitaine in France, & lived there Anno 1386. Kent's Grammar of Heraldry 1716.

Martin, Martyn - From the personal name rendered illustrious by St. Martin, the apostle of the Gauls. Many places in Normandy were dedicated to him, & from one of these sprang the great family who came hither at the conquest under the name of De Sancto Martino. Both as a personal designation and a surname, it is very widely spread in all the countries of Western Europe. At Paris it is amongst the very commonest of all family names, answering to our own Smith for frequency. The name of the Saint was perhaps derived from the Latin martius, warlike.

Marton - The name of many parishes, townships manors etc in the northern counties, from the A-Sax, mare, a lake or pool, and Tūn, an enclosure or homestead. I believe the only family now bearing the name are the Martons of Capernwrey County Lancaster, who claim lineal descent from Paganel de Marton, the Norman lord of E. & W. ^{Marton} in Craven, soon after the Conquest.

O'Riyan Ryan - This family were lords of Darone, Co. Carlow. The name was not unfrequently written O'Mulryan. O'Riyan, Prince of Darone, was slain in 1170, by Raymond le Gros, the avant-courier of Strongbow. O'Alton.

Percy - W^m de Percy, who, with his brother Serlo, assisted at the Conquest of England, appears in Domesday as tenant in capite in many counties, especially in those of York & Lincoln. Percy is the name of a parish & canton near St. Lo, in Normandy, the ancient fief of the family. Lingdale traces the pedigree of W^m de Percy up to the Northman Mainfred, who settled in Neustria (Normandy) before the cession of that province to Rollo.

A popular tradition accounts otherwise for the origin of this illustrious historical surname. It asserts that Malcolm, King of Scotland, having besieged the castle of Alnwick, demanded seizure of that fortress by the surrender of the keys. The governor of the castle so managed matters invasion of England. ⁴ B. L. G. (landed Gentry of Gr. Britain & Ireland by Sir Bernard Burke (Ulster)). The Hundred Rolls forms are de Taylis, de Taylles, de Taylbour, de Tayllur, Taylbour, Taylur etc & there is one Alicia la Tayluresse. Walker 1. a-Sax. wealcere, a fuller. In the North of England fullers' earth is called "walker's clay" and a fulling-mill a walk-mill. In Scotland to walk, or wauk means to full cloth. 2. A forest officer appointed to walk about a certain space of ground committed to his care. Nelson's Laws of Game. This ranks among numerous surnames, there being about 250 Traders in London who bear it.

Appendix.

Brown - "A name which deserves far more reverence than it generally gets. Talk of 'coming over with the Conqueror' - the first Browns came over with Hengist & Horsa - the second with Halfdene & Hastings! I do not doubt that it is in some cases a surname derived from complexion, though in point of fact I have never met with it as an ancient Teutonic surname. As a baptismal name, on the other hand, it was very common, and both on the German & Scandinavian side of very honourable origin. As a Scandinavian name, it seems to be derived from (or at any rate to correspond with) a title of Odin. Of the men called Bruni in the Land namabok, one is surnamed the "white", shewing clearly that it was not from complexion (unless indeed he was a 'whitely-brown'). Its meaning seems to be "having marked or prominent eye-brows" - which is considered to give power & acuity to ^{the} countenance.

The German Browns are a different family. The Old Saxon & Old High German Bruno is cognate with the English burn & signifies fiery & impetuous. As a-Sax. names we find Brun & Brün. In a charter of manemission occurs a Brun bydel - "Brown the Beadle". What a nineteenth century sound! Mr. Turner oddly enough translates it, "the brown beadle" Ferguson P. 297.

that, in delivering the keys at the end of a lance, he pierced the monarch's eye and caused his death. Hence he acquired the surname of "Pierce-Eye" which, by the omission of the several useless vowels, ultimately became Percy! See Bruce's Bayeux Tapestry p. 64.

Randolf, Randolph. The baptismal name

Richmond. a place in the arrondissement of Neufchâtel in Normandy; also the famous castle of Richmond in the N. Riding of Yorkshire, built by the great Earl Alan Temp. William the Conqueror for defence against the disinherited Englishmen & others - pro tutione suorum contra infestationem Anglorum tunc ubique exhereditatorum similiter at Danorum; et nominavit dictum Castrum Richemont, suo idiomate Gallie, quod sonat latine divitem montem, in editione ac fortiori loco sui territorii situationem.

Gale, Requist. Ellis's Domesday. Richmond in Surrey, anciently Sheen, was so called by Henry VII on his building a palace there, after his own title of Earl of Richmond in Yorkshire.

Millington. A parish in Yorkshire, & a Township in Cheshire.

Moss - In the North a morass or bog, as Chat Moss co. Lancaster.

The "moss-troopers" of old times were so called because they inhabited the marshy country of Liddisdale Jamieson.

Taylor Tayler. The well-known Trade-sartor. The commonness of the occupation ^{has} led to the frequency of the surname, which according to the XVI Report of the Requist. Gen. of 1856 stands fourth in the list of the most common family names in England & Wales, giving precedence only to Smith Jones & Williams.

A really ancient & respectable family of Taylor, who apparently trace to Shadochurst, Co Kent and the middle of the XIV century, absurdly attempt to deduce themselves, though with more than one hiatus valde defendens from Baron Taillefer who accompanied with the Conqueror in his
